

Happy Mother's Day

Safe Passage Heals would like to take a moment to honor and celebrate all the amazing mothers in our community. We recognize the hard work, sacrifices, and unconditional love that mothers provide to their families, and we want to show our appreciation for all that they do.

At Safe Passage Heals, we understand that being a mother is not always easy. Many of the mothers we work with are survivors of domestic violence, and they face unique challenges in their journey towards healing and creating a safe and loving home for their children. But we also know that these mothers are incredibly strong, resilient, and determined, and we are honored to walk alongside them on their path to healing.

This Mother's Day, we want to remind all mothers that they are valued and loved. We want to encourage them to take time for themselves, to practice self-care, and to seek support when they need it. We also want to acknowledge that being a mother is not limited to biological ties; it encompasses anyone who plays a nurturing and supportive role in a child's life.

As we celebrate Mother's Day, we also want to recommit ourselves to our mission of ending domestic violence and supporting survivors. We believe that every mother deserves to live in a safe and healthy environment, free from fear and abuse. We will continue to work towards this goal, and we are grateful for the support of our community in this important work.

Thank you for being a part of Safe Passage Heals, and we wish all mothers a happy and peaceful Mother's Day.

Safe Passage Heals Attends the IVAT Hawaii Summit

Safe Passage Heals is proud to announce that our founder and CEO Trish Steele, along with our counselor Katherine O'Donnell Dew, recently attended the International Summit on Violence, Abuse, and Trauma (IVAT) in Hawaii. The IVAT summit is a renowned international conference that brings together experts, researchers, and practitioners in the field of violence and trauma to share knowledge, best practices, and innovations in the field. We are thrilled that Trish and Kat were able to participate in this important event and represent our organization.

Attending the IVAT summit is a crucial opportunity for Safe Passage Heals to stay up-to-date on the latest research and trends in the field of domestic violence and trauma-informed care. By attending sessions, workshops, and networking events, Trish and Katherine gained valuable knowledge and skills that they can bring back to our organization. This will enable us to continue to provide the highest quality services to survivors of domestic violence in our community. Additionally, attending the summit allowed us to connect with other organizations and experts in the field, building important relationships that will help us in our mission to end domestic violence and support survivors.
